9. Funding

Please note: Admission to the programme does not include the award of a scholarship. Therefore, applicants have to seek financial aid from their own countries, employer or from other sources. Qualified candidates who apply for such an 'external scholarship' will be supported by the SPRING-programme. However, the initiative for the scholarship application has to come from the applicant.

Private sponsors (family, husband) or the study with private means is accepted under the condition that sufficient financial means can be proved before final admission.

The German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) awards a strictly limited number of German scholarships to applicants from developing countries on a highly competitive basis. DAAD only provides scholarships, if you have not graduated from university more than 6 years ago.
